- Marci Shimoff, #1 NY Times Bestselling author of Happy For No Reason, Love For No Reason, and Chicken Soup For The Woman's Soul.

"Karen Webb is a dynamic speaker who gives a memorable presentation! She brings energy, expertise, and heart to her talk, leaving the audience spellbound! I loved her explanation of femininity and how we can let go of our childlike version and redefine it as grown women."

-Jackie Cohen, conference attendee

"Karen Webb's business expertise regarding women in the workplace was eye-opening and memorable. She had everyone on the edge of their seats! Great information sprinkled with fun stories."

Shawna Miller, conference attendee and designer

Michael Taylor, conference attendee and entrepreneur

"The most brilliant people I know have the gift of applying whatever their particular expertise is to other areas of our lives. Metaphors about life abound with Karen Otis. Foundations, windows, doors; they are not just for buildings any more! Just as in painting a room or structure successfully, a stellar paint job is all in the preparation, preparation, preparation. That is apt for all areas of life; it's rarely the final step — slapping the paint on — that determines mastery. Ms. Webb, Brava!"

- Ellen Snortland, author and filmmaker "Beauty Bites Beast"

"They say home is where your heart is, but what if your heart and house are falling apart? As a journalist, I seek compelling stories and Karen's divorce comeback and her step-by-step life-building process she's honed from her home-building expertise will put the soul back in your dreams and truly ground her home with your heart."

- Tammy McDuff, Feature Reporter for Hews Media Group-Community News- Winner of Eight L.A. Press Club Awards

The Speaker's presentation was VERY well-organized and thought out. I love how Karen Webb shared her life experience with us. It was so honest, and it encouraged us all to look into ourselves.

- Heather Manzo, seminar attendee

What a powerful seminar! It helped me to realize that I do have a desire to be more- -that I can push through the status quo. If I didn't take this seminar, I would never have realized this at all!
